

Declarations from the Youth

Despite of our evolving society, humanity's wish for peace has not changed. Since the foundation of the UNESCO movement, this non-governmental organization has declared its support to those who wish for peace, and has always considered how they should fulfill this duty.

This fundamental spirit has not changed over the years, and we must always consider what "building peace in minds of men and women" means, and how it changes from time to time, from place to place, and how we might be able to accomplish this goal.

The definition of peace varies from person to person and takes on many forms. Whether the person strives to thrive in the world, values his or her community, or enjoys taking on new challenges, it would be a shame to limit these diverse definitions of peace, as it would to limit these values.

Therefore, we declare the following.

We shall not be bound by the activities carried out by UNESCO, or the title of "youth," and shall commit to preserving this diverse definition of peace.

Furthermore, we shall respect the diversified expressions born from this peace, and shall work to preserve the fundamental spirit of UNESCO as we know today.

We shall carry on the existence of UNESCO for posterity.